McAfee

McAfee™

The Company

McAfee provides market-leading cybersecurity solutions to protect people online.

They offer easy-to-use services to safeguard customers' privacy and identity and secure their devices against viruses, malware, and other threats, empowering people to confidently experience life online.

Family Friendly Filter

The Family Friendly Filter Program is a comprehensive and independent series of tests implemented by the Communications Alliance (the Australian communication industry peak body) supported by Australia's Office of eSafety.

On the behalf of the Communication Alliance Enex TestLab performs the testing.

One test checks a series of appropriate child friendly sites are not blocked. A further two tests validate the performance of the Content Filter against inappropriate content.

The testing, whilst detailed and comprehensive does not overly consume vendor resources through the testing process.

The Benefit

McAfee is globally acknowledged as a market leader in protecting people online.

The rigorous and independent testing conducted by Enex TestLab further validates the continued strength of McAfee's filtering solutions, giving people extra piece of mind.

Public awareness of the certification is achieved via published certificates and publication on the Communication Alliance and Enex TestLab websites.

"McAfee's Head of Sales for APAC, Tash Stamatelos remarked "Enex TestLab have tested our products continuously over several years. The testing provides the public, our partners and us clear validation of the continued strength of our Content Filtering solutions. "

About Enex TestLab

Enex TestLab was founded in 1989 within RMIT University and has grown to be an independent commercial testing lab. Our specialisations include product testing, head-to-head review, certification and verification, type approval testing, evaluation, benchmarking and technology development consultancy.

Enex TestLab has in good standing ISO 9001 Quality Management.

Visit testlab.com.au/claims_validation to discover more about Enex TestLab's straight forward, affordable and effective independent Claims Validation.